

HUMANITIES AND SOCIAL SCIENCE

Specializes in Academic

Columbia University Press (CUP) specializes in academic publishing by offering a diverse range of scholarly works in various disciplines. With a focus on social work and innovative scholarship, CUP publishes texts widely adopted in courses and utilized by professionals, contributing to academic research and education.

Categories and Subjects

Columbia University Press (CUP) covers key subjects and categories including social work, European perspectives, Wellek Library Lectures, Leonard Hasting Schoff Memorial Lectures, Bampton Lectures in America, and a range of innovative scholarly works by leading scholars across various disciplines, contributing significantly to academic discourse.

About

Columbia University Press (CUP), established in 1893, is a prominent university press known for its diverse list of publications. Renowned for its strong social work texts, CUP also publishes innovative works by leading scholars through various lecture series, contributing significantly to academic discourse.

VIEW TITLES