

SCIENCE, ENGINEERING AND TECHNOLOGY

Specializes in Academic

Burleigh Dodds Science Publishing specializes in academic, research-driven content on sustainable and regenerative agriculture. Their publications are ideal for researchers, academics, policymakers, agricultural professionals, and industry practitioners seeking evidence-based insights to advance sustainable farming and food systems worldwide.

Categories and subjects

Burleigh Dodds Science Publishing covers sustainable and regenerative agriculture, crop science, livestock production, forestry, soil health, climate-smart farming, pest and disease management, agri-food supply chains, and related policy and practice, supporting research and innovation across global agricultural systems.

About

Burleigh Dodds Science Publishing is an award-winning independent publisher specializing in sustainable and regenerative agriculture, covering crops, livestock, forestry, and the food supply chain while bridging research and practice to support global sustainability goals.

VIEW TITLES

