

ASIAN STUDIES

Specializes in Academic

The Malaysia Historical Collection specializes in academic research by curating first-hand accounts of life and events in the Malaysia archipelago over the past century. It offers a scholarly exploration of British colonialism, Japanese occupation, and the post-independence Malaya federation, presenting a comprehensive view of Malaysia's historical narrative.

Categories and Subjects

The Malaysia Historical Collection covers a range of key subjects including tribal history dating back 40,000 years, Hindu and Buddhist-influenced kingdoms, the spread of Islam, the establishment of the Malay sultanate in Melaka, British colonialism, Japanese occupation, and the post-independence Malaya federation.

About

Malaysia Historical Collection, the tribal history of Malaysia dates back 40,000 years, with Hindu and Buddhist-influenced kingdoms from the 3rd century BC. Islam arrived in the 13th century. The "Malaysia Historical Collection" captures first-hand accounts of life spanning the British colonial period, Japanese occupation, and post-independence Malaya federation.

VIEW TITLES